No Image/Scratch Design

With Image/Scratch Design

- Red – semantic tags such as header, main, section, aside ,footer
- Green – act as div
- Blue/violet – p/image and so on

I broke the layout into smaller boxes so I could design them more freely. I used two semantic tags, <header> and <main>, to split the content into two sections.

The <header> has three  elements that act as containers for different elements. I used justify-content: space-around; to space them out evenly.

Inside the <main> section, I divided it into two parts to separate their content. One part which is the <sidebar> has three  elements to organize things like the logo and text. The main section is split into four parts: category, videos, title, and shorts. Each part has its own purpose in organizing and designing the content properly.

For the videos, I broke them into many smaller boxes to separate and style them better of the logo,text, vidoes, timer and so on.
